

VACATIONING AT THE LEONIKI RESIDENCE

Out in the dark blue sea there lies an island called Crete, a rich and lovely land, washed by the sea on every side, densely peopled and boasting ninety cities. The 5th largest island in the Mediterranean, Crete is filled with diversity and fascination. Its 4000 years of history and culture has resulted in an island rich in diverse architecture and culture. Crete can be simple or posh, it can be crowded or secluded, and you can be by the sea or up in the mountains. Whatever your interest is, Crete has much to offer.

DIRECTIONS

From Heraklion Airport (100 km):

Follow signs to Hania (or Chania) and Rethymnon. After about an hour, you will reach the village of Scaletta. Pass through Scaletta and turn right, following the "Old Road to Rethymnon" sign, until you get to Platanes Village. The resort is on the left.

From Hania Airport (60 km):

Follow signs to Hania (or Chania), and then to Rethymnon and Heraklion. After about 45 minutes, take the second entrance to Rethymnon and drive towards the centre. There is only one road to Platanes, which is not sign posted. From Rethymnon port, take the "Old Road" out of the town towards Heraklion. The resort is situated 10 km on your right.

GETTING AROUND IN CRETE

By Bus

The national bus service, KTEL, operates services on the island of Crete. The service is reasonably punctual and inexpensive. For more information on routes, fares and timetables, visit the KTEL web site at <http://www.bus-service-crete-ktel.com/main.html>

By Taxis

Taxi stands often display the fares between main destinations. Ensure that the meter is set or agree on the fare before continuing with the trip. Tipping is optional and be careful when specifying your destination as many places have similar sounding names.

By Car

Renting a car is the most convenient way to explore this large island. Many car rental companies offer competitive rates that vary according to season. Most companies will accept online bookings and arrange for airport pick up.
